

RIOTS AT HYNDMAN,

SAFE SHATTERED.

Drunken Negroes Murderously Assault Special Policeman Baldwin

AND ROB PATRICK REILY.

Citizens Armed With Guns, Clubs and Stones Charged on the Notorious Captured Every Darky in Sight.

Two exciting riots occurred at Hyndman Monday afternoon and evening. A large crowd was attracted to the town by Sparks' circus, which gave an afternoon and evening performance. Over one hundred negroes employed on the B. & O. improvements took a day off and became hilariously drunk. The riot started on Centre street about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when William Baldwin, a special policeman, undertook to arrest several disorderly negroes. A large force of dandies rushed to the assistance of their less fortunate comrades and a wild scene ensued. Hundreds of people assembled at the place of the disturbance, bricks, clubs and stones were thrown into the crowd, revolvers fired and confusion and disorder prevailed generally.

During the melee Baldwin escaped into the residence of S. J. Noel and by his sudden and frightened appearance greatly alarmed the members of the household. Burgess Kramer was on the scene almost instantly, and when order had been partly restored, addressed the crowd in front of Charles R. Rhodes & Co.'s drug store and asked them to disperse, which they did. He then ordered the saloons closed, which was promptly done by the proprietors.

Baldwin was badly beaten during the riot, as was also one of the negroes. Some windows were broken at the millinery store of Noel & Thomas. The negroes were thoroughly aroused and started out on a rampage. Baldwin, who had in the meantime left Mr. Noel's residence, was found on Second avenue near the residence of Joseph Kriegle. He was at once seized by the angry negroes and given another terrible beating. Another gang of drunken blacks nearby held up Patrick Reily and relieved him of five dollars in cash.

The patience of the citizens was not exhausted, and, armed with guns, revolvers, clubs and stones, they charged on the mob and captured every negro in sight and marched them up before Burgess Kramer, who found true bills against five of the number, who were held for their appearance at court. They were brought to Bedford and placed in jail. They are John Hamilton, John Johnson, William Fields, Thomas Richardson and John Richardson.

During the excitement a shooting affray occurred between negroes who were playing cards just outside of the borough. One was shot through the arm and another through the leg.

While the first riot was in progress a tramp umbrella mender stole some razors from Edward Gaster's barber shop. He was quickly captured and the stolen property returned. On promising to leave the town at once, he was released, as theborough lock-up was already crowded. About fifteen persons were arrested. Burgess Kramer, Police Commissioner and their aids assisted by a number of citizens, acted with great heroism and deserve credit for their prompt efforts to restore order.

The saloon keepers complied cheerfully with Burgess Kramer's orders to close, and this is to their credit, for had this not been done a riot would have again occurred at night, with probably worse results.

Baldwin escaped from the town on a passing train.

THE GAZETTE has received the above information from reliable sources and gives this detailed account of the riots in order to correct the false reports that have appeared under glaring headlines in many of the city dailies.

It is a matter for congratulation that in two riots of such magnitude no one was killed.

What Bryan Stands For.

W. Bourke Cockran, the American Democrat, who left the party in 1896, has an ardent advocate of his views on the money question, in the person of Bryan. He says: "When the republicans in the country take the place of the patriots in the ranks of its active defenders. . . . Mr. Bryan stands for liberty, justice and the constitution."

School Board Proceedings.

At its regular meeting on July 27 the Bedford borough school board fixed Monday, September 3, as the time to open our schools for the ensuing term.

The teachers were assigned the same rooms respectively which they occupied last year, except that Miss Mary Shearer takes the eighth room, the one formerly taught by Mrs. Gilchrist.

The tuition of pupils outside the district was fixed at $10 for the minimum term of seven months, except in the high school, where it shall be $15; the tuition of pupils not sent in by another school board to be paid upon their entering school.

Leaders for Bryan.

Mr. Wilson J. Robinson, of Bedford, Pa., and Miss Lulu Kiser, of this city, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Charles Kiser, in Fairview. William Brill, pastor of the Walnut Avenue Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple will spend a few weeks in Bedford county and upon their return will reside in this city, where the groom is in the employ of the railroad company—Altoona Times.

Deaths.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

SUNDAY'S SERVICES

In the Methodist Episcopal Church of Bedford.

SYNOPSIS OF SERMONS

Delivered By Rev. C. J. Hall, an Able and Eloquent Divine of Denver—Christianity in Four Letters."

Last Sunday the Methodist Episcopal church was filled both morning and evening by those who wished to hear Rev. C. J. Hall, of Denver, Col.

Enjoyable features of the services were a solo by Mrs. Clarence T. Brantley, of Richmond, Va., and a selection by Cornetist S. Barkell, of the Bedford Springs Hotel orchestra.

Rev. Hall is an able and eloquent exponent of gospel truth. The outlines we furnish will give some idea of the trend of his thought, in his brilliant efforts on Sunday, but can afford little idea of the remarkable impression produced upon the large congregations present. His intense personality, his forceful illustrations and his unique way of putting things lend a charm to his discourses which cannot easily be described.

Violated His Oath of Office

Lewis Wallace, Jr., son of the author of "Ben Hur," announces his intention to advocate and vote for Bryan's reelection. He declared that McDonald, of Indianapolis, was in office in substance, as in name, the anti-slavery and anti-trust laws and in giving slavery the protection of our flag in the South.

The robbery occurred two or three days after pay-day. If the raid had been made a few days sooner the burglars might have secured a large sum of money.

Violated His Oath of Office

Lewis Wallace, Jr., son of the author of "Ben Hur," announces his intention to advocate and vote for Bryan's reelection. He declared that McDonald, of Indianapolis, was in office in substance, as in name, the anti-slavery and anti-trust laws and in giving slavery the protection of our flag in the South.

NEWS ITEMS.

Daily Happenings Gathered and Briefly Recorded.

Chief Justice Henry Green, of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, died at Atlantic City last week.

Governor Shaw has appointed J. P. Doliver United States senator to March 4, 1901, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. H. Gear.

Miss Mabel McKinley, of New York, niece of President McKinley, and Dr. Hermann F. Baer, of Somersett, will be married on September 18.

Postmaster General Smith has announced the appointment of State Senator William M. Johnson, of New Jersey, as first assistant postmaster general, to succeed Perry S. Heath, resigned.

Editor Warren Worth Ballay, of the Johnstown Democrat, has accepted the position of assistant to the chief of the Press Bureau of the national Democratic committee, with headquarters at Chicago.

Theodore Wallart, a farmer living near Arlington, Minn., Sunday night killed his wife, a boy of nineteen, a girl of sixteen and a baby. He then set fire to his barn, destroying the stable, with nine horses, a corn crib and a full hay barn. Mrs. Wallart had been trying to secure a divorce, the couple having separated. Wallart died after committing the dastardly deed, but has been arrested.

Gully of Geibel's Murky.

The first chapter in Kentucky's recent political tragedy reached its end on Saturday when Caleb Powers, former secretary of state, was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor William Goebel and sentenced to life imprisonment. The cowardly shooting down of Mr. Goebel while on his way to the state house in Frankfort was the culmination of a fierce contest in which it was alleged the corporate interests of the state were arrayed against the people as represented by Goebel. One of the interesting phases of this sad affair is the virtual exile of his native state of Governor of Kentucky, who to escape trial fled to Indianapolis, together with Secretary Finley. Requests on Governor Mount, of Indiana, for their delivery to Kentucky authorities have been flatly refused, in direct violation, as many believe, of constitutional principles. Without a doubt another decision will now be made on the executive.

Rutherford B. Hayes.

F. M. Snyder, formerly foreman of the P. R. R. roundhouse at State Line, has been promoted to master mechanic on the Cambria and Clearfield division, P. R. R. J. R. Bowes has been appointed to fill the position made vacant by Mr. Snyder's promotion.—Cumberland News.

ROBINSON-KIRK.

Mr. Wilson J. Robinson, of Bedford, Pa., and Miss Lulu Kiser, of this city, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Charles Kiser, in Fairview. William Brill, pastor of the Walnut Avenue Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple will spend a few weeks in the Springs, and then return to their home in the employ of the railroad company—Altoona Times.

Leaders for Bryan.

Mr. Wilson J. Robinson, of Bedford, Pa., and Miss Lulu Kiser, of this city, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Charles Kiser, in Fairview. William Brill, pastor of the Walnut Avenue Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple will spend a few weeks in the Springs, and then return to their home in the employ of the railroad company—Altoona Times.

Deaths.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.

Heitzell's Son.

Charles Heitzell died at his home near Oppenheimer Sunday morning. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Joseph Imler, of Bedford township, and Levi Heitzell, of Nebraska. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held Wednesday morning. Mr. Heitzell was a member of the Evangelical church.

Will Go to China.

On Wednesday Capt. Charles E. Tayman, of the First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been spending some time at the Springs, was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and he left for the west the same day. The command to which he belongs will go to China. Captain Tayman's home is in Somerset county. He recently returned from Cuba.

Marriage Licenses.

Adam Belitz and Sylvia Wolford, of Fosterville.

Joseph Henreux and Leona Richards, of Broad Top township.

George E. Householder and Ida E. Poor, of East Providence township.</

Established in 1805.

The GAZETTE is the leading newspaper of Bedford county and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

THE BEDFORD GAZETTE IS A MODEL AMONG COUNTRY NEWSPAPERS. — New York World. Regular subscription price per year... $3.00. If paid in advance... $1.50. All communications should be addressed to

The Gazette Publishing Co.,
BEDFORD, Pa.

Friday Morning, Aug. 24, 1900.

Democratic National Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
of Nebraska.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
ADLAI EWING STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

Democratic State Ticket.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,
P. GRAY MEIK,
of Center County.
FOR CONGRESSMEN AT-LARGE,
H. E. GRIM,
of Bucks County.
N. M. EDWARDS,
of Lycoming County.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR CONGRESSMAN,
DANIEL S. HORN,
of Bedford Borough.
[Subject to the action of the District Conference.]

FOR LEGISLATORS,
EDMUND S. DOTY,
of Bedford Borough,
WALTER F. ENFIELD,
of Bedford Borough.
FOR ASSISTANT JUDGE,
WILLIAM H. CUPPETT, of Main's Choice.
FOR POOR DIRECTOR,
C. C. SNELL,
of Everett.
FOR JURY COMMISSIONER,
M. L. SNYDER,
of Bloomfield Township.

Behold a republic standing erect, with the empires all around her bowed beneath the weight of their own armaments—a republic whose flag is loved while other flags are only feared.—William Jennings Bryan.

WILL SUPPORT BRYAN. The numerous and notable accessions to the ranks of those who are zealously laboring for the election of William J. Bryan and Adlai E. Stevenson are causing the Republicans a great deal of apprehension these days and strengthening the belief of the Democrats in the rightousness of their cause and their confidence in their loyal leader.

Among the most distinguished statesmen who have come out frankly and unconditionally for the Nebraskans are Bourke Cockran and Edward M. Shepard, both of whom took a very prominent part in the Democratic revolt on the money question four years ago. The statements of these two logical thinkers in defining their position in the present campaign are politic, lofty and patriotic. Neither abandons his attitude toward free coinage, but Mr. Shepard regards it as having "ceased to be a practical danger," while Mr. Cockran believes that the election of Mr. Bryan can at most result in "dividing the control of the government between the two parties." Both Mr. Shepard and Mr. Cockran declare that even if 16 to 1 were a living issue they must still vote for the Democratic nominee. Mr. Shepard is not unmindful of the fact that "in order to save the Union and to give liberty to negro slaves our country in 1862 adopted a paper currency for many years irredeemable in any coin and worse than silver coinage on a 50 per cent basis."

Mr. Cockran sounded a timely note of warning when, in his letter to the Liberty convention, he said: "If the Republican party be successful its control of the judicial as well as of the executive and legislative departments will be absolute and its disposition to exercise all its power for the enforcement of an imperialistic policy cannot be doubted."

Mr. Shepard's statement of the policy of the Democracy as opposed to the course pursued by the war lord and his followers is characteristic of the man—calm, thoughtful, convincing and conscientious. Here are a few of his striking sentences:

"The amazing productiveness of American labor, out of which come alike the millions or thousands or hundreds of dollars, is the result above all of the dignity and freedom of the American workman, his respect for the rights of others and his assertion of his own. No policy of military order or glory or conquest has ever produced or come measurably near to producing this degree of wealth and well-being."

"American jealousy of individual rights and dislikes of standing armies have made of us no less the richest than the freest of nations. We are in November to vote whether we shall reverse this policy. The folly of such a reversal is no less plain from the standpoint of the well-to-do, to whom a broad and steady base of order and security is the first good of government, than to the millions of citizens."

Mr. Cockran, who has often been called the Demosthenes of America, paid Mr. Bryan a glowing tribute. He said that the standard-bearer of the Democratic hosts, on the question of imperialism, has made it impossible

PUBLIC OPINION.

Views From Various Sources on Matters of Public Interest.

The New York World has summarized the reasons why Mr. Cockran and Mr. Shepard will support Bryan. Those of the first named are as follows:

- Because Bryan is the only way to make opposition to imperialism effective.
- Because voting for a third ticket would be equivalent to abstention from the polls.
- Because imperialism is the dominant policy.
- Because the election will settle the question irreversibly.
- Because Bryan's election will put a quietus on the imperialistic adventure.
- Because no presidential election ever decided more than one question.
- Because Bryan is so constituted that, as president, there can be no silver legislation during his term of office.

Because Bryan has robbed the attack on the republic of its disguise and forced a fight in the open.

Because inability to deal with the issues of 1900 in 1901 can best be explained by meeting intelligently the issues of 1900.

The ten reasons why Mr. Shepard will work for the success of the Democratic ticket are as follows:

- The very life of American democracy is involved in the administration's imperialistic folly.
- The present dominant question is the Kansas City platform is right.
- Because 16 to 1 has ceased to be a practical danger.
- In 1900 we have indeed a true battle for the precedence of the man over the dollar.

As between the policy of foreign aggression and a peaceful off, the latter will be the lesser evil.

The danger from the Republican policy is enormously enhanced by the Chinese situation.

Safety requires the election of a president who abhors the idea of foreign subjugation of people.

Bryan in the present case could do nothing but the McKinley's retention and support of Secretary Alger.

No president can adopt free coinage of silver without the assent of the people.

16 to 1, the same, will be a small price to pay for preserving the ideal of democratic self-government.

In addition to Messrs. Cockran and Shepard many other leading politicians have declared their intention to work for the Democratic ticket, among them being a large number of prominent Republicans. As the New York World says, the men who have turned away from McKinley "are intellectually among the strongest men of an exceptional class of citizens. They are the leaders of those who put their country above their party. Some of them were the glory and strength of the Bryan cause."

The general hospital at the presidio, San Francisco, is to be enlarged in order to accommodate the increased number of sick and wounded soldiers who are coming constantly from China and the Philippines. Thus we are brought into close contact with the horrors of war and the evils of militarism, and it is only the beginning. Unless the policies which mean imperialism are abandoned the time will soon be here when military hospitals will be necessary at every seaport on both oceans and the sufferings of our citizens will be so common as to attract little attention. It will be a sad era of the republic.—Harrisonburg Independent.

Four Years Among Cannibals. The French adventurer who was a captive among cannibals in Central Africa for four years, has decided to write a book, which will no doubt prove interesting. We sympathize with his release from his terrible captivity, which must have been as joyous as that of a man who himself suddenly released from the captivity of a refractory stomach, by the lesser remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has done more to promote health, than any other in existence. This is the medicine to take if you are a sufferer from dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, nervousness or insomnia. Don't fail to give it a trial. Ask for Hostetter's, and do not accept a substitute. The genuine Hostetter's Private Revenue Stamp over the neck of bottle.

STOP THE COUGH AND WORKS OFF THE COLD. Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay Price 25 cents, one a day. Solids Massacre a Wedding Party. WASHINGTON, August 10.—Thomas W. Jones, private in Troop G, Eleventh Cavalry, writing from Santa Cruz, Philippine Islands, to his brother here, describes a massacre of Filipinos in which he took part on June 25. Sixty members of his regiment were ordered out to kill or capture a famous Filipino general known to be living in the neighborhood.

The general's house was located and the Americans crawled through the underbrush until they secured positions but a few yards distant. Then they discovered that they had unwittingly chanced upon a wedding. The Americans were ordered to fire a volley from ambush and then charge which they did with terrible results. "The scene that resulted was horrible," writes Private Jones. "On the ground near the house lay the body of the bride, whose brains had been blown out. The bridegroom, who had received a bullet in the stomach, was lying near by in a dying condition. Twelve of the Filipinos had been killed and about the same number wounded. An elderly woman was shot through the leg and a little child had her arm in favor of an empire"—Pittsburgh Post.

We read the other day a letter in the Outlook from a correspondent in the Philippines bearing strong testimony to the profound and universal hatred of Americans by the Filipinos. He assures us that "every Filipino is at heart an insurrectionist." He is quite confident that this state of things is due to too much clemency on the part of the United States. The unscrupulous nature of this is reflected in the estimate that over 20,000 Filipinos since the war broke out and reported the killing of 600 the very week the correspondent wrote. We speak not in the interest of any party or any phase of politics, but in the name of our religion and of human brotherhood when we say that this is a sad and shameful chapter in the history of a great Christian people.—Urberville Leader.

Neither by the hazard of chance nor the conduct of battle can we take territory for part of our domain where, because of the peculiar conditions, the law and constitution cannot have full play. It is always for us to acquire territory where it is impossible for its people to have the same constitutional rights and liberties as our own citizens. Do not depart from the doctrine of taxation with representation. This nation must not enter on a career of conquest. Love of money and conquest must not be allowed to break down good government with its grand results. The weaker countries, let us pursue a different mission in the world's history. It is not necessary for the United States to shoot, conquer and annex in the Orient in order to get its trade. Our greatest trade is with England. And there was never even talk of annexing the land? The dogs that eat over armadas of invasion, over filled ships with horrors that once were men, have followed trade."

Deafness Cannot be Cured by medical appliances as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or impeded hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; pine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

J. C. CHIRNEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y. I suffered from catarrh of the ear. There is no way to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their families, I would like to have them to buy it, but GRAND-O' I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

For health, C. F. MYERS.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family pretty fast, and answer it to-day—Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling or baking; add boiling water and set to cool. Flavors—Banana, Pineapple, Orange, Raspberry and Brown Sugar. At your grocer's, 10 ct. each 100 yds.

Plant an ad. in THE GAZETTE and watch your business grow.

Views From Various Sources on Matters of Public Interest.

The German meat bill is a mistake;

the Piggie bill was a mistake, and the Bailey bill and all other retaliatory measures, which will result in arousing further hostility and greater restriction upon trade, are also sheer folly.—Philadelphia Public Ledger (Rep.).

During the past four years 700 trusts have been formed, and yet with one exception not a suit has been brought by the 76 United States district attorneys against these unlawful combinations. The exception was the suit of District Attorney Sunday, of Cincinnati, and he got injunction orders from the U. S. attorney, attorney to Justice, when he set out to indict the coal trust officials.—Ex-Attorney General Monnett, of Ohio, Rep.

Because Bryan has robbed the attack on the republic of its disguise and forced a fight in the open.

Because inability to deal with the issues of 1900 in 1901 can best be explained by meeting intelligently the issues of 1900.

The ten reasons why Mr. Shepard will work for the success of the Democratic ticket are as follows:

- The very life of American democracy is involved in the administration's imperialistic folly.
- The present dominant question is the Kansas City platform is right.
- Because 16 to 1 has ceased to be a practical danger.
- In 1900 we have indeed a true battle for the precedence of the man over the dollar.

As between the policy of foreign aggression and a peaceful off, the latter will be the lesser evil.

The danger from the Republican policy is enormously enhanced by the Chinese situation.

Safety requires the election of a president who abhors the idea of foreign subjugation of people.

Bryan in the present case could do nothing but the McKinley's retention and support of Secretary Alger.

No president can adopt free coinage of silver without the assent of the people.

16 to 1, the same, will be a small price to pay for preserving the ideal of democratic self-government.

In addition to Messrs. Cockran and Shepard many other leading politicians have declared their intention to work for the Democratic ticket, among them being a large number of prominent Republicans. As the New York World says, the men who have turned away from McKinley "are intellectually among the strongest men of an exceptional class of citizens. They are the leaders of those who put their country above their party. Some of them were the glory and strength of the Bryan cause."

The general hospital at the presidio, San Francisco, is to be enlarged in order to accommodate the increased number of sick and wounded soldiers who are coming constantly from China and the Philippines. Thus we are brought into close contact with the horrors of war and the evils of militarism, and it is only the beginning. Unless the policies which mean imperialism are abandoned the time will soon be here when military hospitals will be necessary at every seaport on both oceans and the sufferings of our citizens will be so common as to attract little attention. It will be a sad era of the republic.—Harrisonburg Independent.

The Democratic party has never acquited an inch of territory that it did not sign and seal a covenant with its inhabitants that they should have all the rights of American citizenship and that their territory should be finally admitted as states of the Union. The Republican party was the only party in this country that has ever proposed to hold vast provinces in the name of the central government, and to claim the same as the sole authority of the empire.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that entereth not by the door into the fold of the sheep, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the porter openeth and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name and leadeth them out. When he hath put forth all his own he goeth before them and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. And a stranger will they not follow, but will flee from him, for they know not the voice of strangers.

This parable Jesus used; but they understood not what things they were which He spake unto them; Jesus, therefore, said unto them again: Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep. All that came before me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door; by me, if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and go out and shall find pasture. The thief cometh not, but that he may steal, kill and destroy. I came before me are all thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. I am the good shepherd; and I know mine own and mine own know me even as the Father knoweth me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep. But the bad shepherd is a shibboleth of unredeemed vulgarity and unqualified coarseness, which assures that American workmen have no interest in the good government and general welfare of their country beyond the filling of their own stomachs. If they get fed regularly and plentifully it is taken for granted by the Republican managers that they will be entirely satisfied.

"I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep. He is that an hireling, and not a shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, beareth the wolf coming and scattereth them; and the wolf snatches them and scattereth them; he feareth because he is an hireling and careth not for the sheep. I am the good shepherd and I know mine own and mine own know me even as the Father knoweth me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep.

"And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold, them also must I bring, and they shall hear my voice; and they shall become one flock, one shepherd.

Therefore doth the Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I may take it again. No one taketh it away from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down and I have power to take it again. This commandment received I of my Father.

There arose a division again among the Jews because of these words. And many of them said, "He hath a devil and is mad; why hear ye him?" Others said, "These are not the sayings of one possessed with a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?" And it was the feast of the dedication at Jerusalem; it was winter, and Jesus was walking in the temple in Solomon's porch. The Jews, therefore, came round about Him, and said unto Him, "How long dost thou make us suspect? If thou art the Christ, tell us plainly." Jesus answered them, "I told you, and ye believed not; the works that I do in my Father's name, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He is not the son of a traitor, but of the people who sympathized with them in their determination to clear the country of the foreign intruders who were trying to destroy their religion, bring their most sacred customs into contempt and prepare the way for the partition of the empire, he would be deemed a criminal. But if he made a profit and was inspired solely by love of gain, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He has merely sold, not given, aid and comfort to the potential enemies of his country, and is mad; why hear ye him?" Others said, "These are not the sayings of one possessed with a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?" And it was the feast of the dedication at Jerusalem; it was winter, and Jesus was walking in the temple in Solomon's porch. The Jews, therefore, came round about Him, and said unto Him, "How long dost thou make us suspect? If thou art the Christ, tell us plainly." Jesus answered them, "I told you, and ye believed not; the works that I do in my Father's name, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He is not the son of a traitor, but of the people who sympathized with them in their determination to clear the country of the foreign intruders who were trying to destroy their religion, bring their most sacred customs into contempt and prepare the way for the partition of the empire, he would be deemed a criminal. But if he made a profit and was inspired solely by love of gain, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He has merely sold, not given, aid and comfort to the potential enemies of his country, and is mad; why hear ye him?" Others said, "These are not the sayings of one possessed with a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?" And it was the feast of the dedication at Jerusalem; it was winter, and Jesus was walking in the temple in Solomon's porch. The Jews, therefore, came round about Him, and said unto Him, "How long dost thou make us suspect? If thou art the Christ, tell us plainly." Jesus answered them, "I told you, and ye believed not; the works that I do in my Father's name, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He is not the son of a traitor, but of the people who sympathized with them in their determination to clear the country of the foreign intruders who were trying to destroy their religion, bring their most sacred customs into contempt and prepare the way for the partition of the empire, he would be deemed a criminal. But if he made a profit and was inspired solely by love of gain, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He has merely sold, not given, aid and comfort to the potential enemies of his country, and is mad; why hear ye him?" Others said, "These are not the sayings of one possessed with a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?" And it was the feast of the dedication at Jerusalem; it was winter, and Jesus was walking in the temple in Solomon's porch. The Jews, therefore, came round about Him, and said unto Him, "How long dost thou make us suspect? If thou art the Christ, tell us plainly." Jesus answered them, "I told you, and ye believed not; the works that I do in my Father's name, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He is not the son of a traitor, but of the people who sympathized with them in their determination to clear the country of the foreign intruders who were trying to destroy their religion, bring their most sacred customs into contempt and prepare the way for the partition of the empire, he would be deemed a criminal. But if he made a profit and was inspired solely by love of gain, he is absolved of his crime, and the party of his patriotism is unquestioned. He has merely sold, not given, aid and comfort to the potential enemies of his country, and is mad; why hear ye him?" Others said, "These are not the sayings of one possessed with a devil.

BROADBRIM'S BUDGET

Number One Thousand Two Hundred and Thirteen.

IMMORTAL HEROES

Two Classes of Correspondents—All Eyes Are Turned Toward Li Hung Chang—His Visit to Grant's Tomb

Special Correspondence of THE GAZETTE

New York, August 21.—With each succeeding day the Chinese question becomes more serious and perplexing and to the man who loves his country who glories in its success and who grieves at its misfortunes and defeats, there is something most painful and of pressing in the complications of the present hour.

Bold and clear on the picture of Death is a little band of immortal heroes, struggling along through the sunken lands and rice swamps that border the Ho Ho, their eyes fixed on China's imperial capital. The sound of Boxes cannon and the savage cries of their pitiless battalions sound like a funeral knell on the ears of the afflicted martyrs, who sheltered by the walls of the British legation are now awaiting the cruel and seemingly inevitable order of massacre, which may be expected at any moment, and the appalling question which survives the murderous slaughterers, What then? The answer comes back like some of the hideous phantoms that haunt us in our troubled dreams akin to those that Dante saw as he gazed on the burning pool of Malibog. It makes one sick at heart to read the conflicting accounts of victory and defeat. Only a few days ago we were victorious in a fight where we left 1,000 wounded and dead upon the battlefield. It was a victory dearly bought, but if we had suffered defeat it would have been fraught with consequences that would have appalled the civilized world, for an order had gone forth from the savage commander of the Boxers, that if the Chinese were victorious, not a single Christian native or foreigner should be left alive.

The nations rejoiced when the news came that the allies had beaten back the Boxers, entered Pekin and rescued the foreigners—but the end is not yet.

As if the dread reality were not enough to make our hearts ache from day to day the papers came loaded with tales of horror and massacre where every detail is given as vouches for by an eye witness who was present at the fateful butchery and saw the festering dead inside the walls of the British legation, and those who remained alive were too weak with hunger to remove the horrid vision from their sight. The same veracious witness was on the ground when the murderous Boxers broke through the wall of the British legation and when the fathers and brothers saw their last hope of rescue gone they drew their knives and pistols and, seizing their women and children, killed them or the spot, and when the Boxers departed not a single Christian remained alive. The nations rejoiced when the allied forces beat back the Boxers, entered Pekin and rescued the foreigners—but the end is not yet.

Who is responsible for these sickening pictures which have caused more suffering and agony in thousands of hours than all the dread realities with in the Chinese War? A majority of the great dailies throughout the world not satisfied to receive the news have special correspondents on the spot whose only desire on earth is to get the earliest and most reliable news for their papers, and to effect which they daily and hourly carry their lives in their hands and take ten times the chances of capture or death taken by an ordinary soldier. Where danger is, there is the goal of their ambition. You will find them wherever duty calls you can see them inside of the firing line, where death laden hail is in the air above and around them fearless as the Paladins of old, who fought to re-deem the peoples of Christ from the Saracens. These are the men brave and honest reliable and true as Damascus steel—the men who have helped to make journalism the great and noble profession that it is today and who have assisted in raising it from the fourth to the first estate, till it stands in every Christian land where the sun rises and sets, the leading commander and prophet in the world's civilization.

But there is another class of correspondents, festering plasters on the profession of journalism men without honesty or honor, whose business it is to cater to the depraved appetite of the sensational yellow journalism of the day, which unfortunately finds a large and appreciative clientele in all great cities of the world.

New York has its full share of these infamous harpies and they have fed their supporters on chapters of horrors that could only have been instigated by the father of lies in one of his most wicked and turbulent moods. Some people profess to believe that these reports emanated from the Chinese themselves. What motive could they have to add to the horror and detestation with which they are regarded by every civilized nation on the globe? Acquaint them that John has plenty of sins to answer for with out borrowing the brutality of foreign pigs.

The reports were the diabolical invention of foreign correspondents of the baser sort, who kept the yellow sensational press supplied with the foul food which was its life. Better men have paid the penalty of their crimes upon the gallows and I think that the pillory or whipping post might well be revived for their especial benefit.

But as the fate of nations depends on the uncertain victories and defeats of the battlefield, rising above the smoke and horrid din of the conflict is one imperial figure to whom all eyes are turned, the greatest living China man of his generation, the one man in a population of 30,000,000 who is listened to with respect alike by friends and foes the only man in this hour of bitter trial whom his country is willing to trust for her present safety from her invaders and to whom she looks for peace in the future, and has name is Li Hung Chang. Two years ago he appeared among us with a staff no larger than that of any Chinese gentleman of wealth and high official station. He claimed no especial recognition when visiting the accredited representatives of his country. No one appeared to know his mission, if he had any, for without any such sounding proclamation or statement he went about from place to place.

gathering what information he could, through his interpreter, asking questions of the humble laborer he met about the wages he earned the size of his family and the character of his home. While here he visited the yards of our great shipbuilders and the works where locomotives were manufactured and those mighty engines that propel our great ocean steamers on their way and there is little doubt that while the wily old diplomat's face was as impassive as stone he was revolving in his mind the chances of China's future when her three or four hundred millions should wake from the sluggish sleep of mouldy centuries and enter into competition in the markets of the world for the splendid prizes that civilization offers for the works of industry and genius.

One of his first visits was to the tomb of General Grant whose acquaintance he had made during our great chieftain's journey around the world. Li Hung Chang had been a mighty fighter in his day and it was rumored that during the Taiping rebellion he maintained at his own expense an army of 40,000 fighting men. His visit to General Grant's tomb he regarded as a sacred duty and he laid a beautiful wreath on the last resting place of great soldier revered for the dead and respect for old age being chief among the redeeming qualities of the Chinese. Li Hung Chang, after a brief visit, departed as quickly as he came and now the question arises Why did he come at all? Did he know of the Boxer leader that was at work throughout his native country and did he see the inevitable conflict that was sure to ensue when religious hate became a leading factor in the strife which could only be satisfied with human blood, or the utter annihilation of one side or the other?

Li Hung Chang came here to spy out the land, as the Jews of old did when they ravaged the fair fields of Canaan? Something that he said shortly after his return to China cost him his yellow jacket and imperial button the possession of which gave him a position next to the emperor himself. The precious treasures were forwarded to Pekin at once by an imperial messenger. It then turned out that the brother of the sun and the first cousin of the moon had never heard of the demand, so they were returned with the emperor's compliments and regrets by the same messenger that brought them, and Prince Li has worn them ever since on great occasions. The yellow jacket is a uniform denoting the highest rank known to the Chinese so when this crafty old mandarin came to speak for his country let our ministers see that it has on his Sunday clothes, for officially without his yellow jacket and imperial button he would be of no more account than Hop Lee who destroys your collars and ruins your shirts.

The hot spell of weather has been the most dreadful and fatal felt here in many years. Brownings prevented a tragedy.

Timely information given Mr. George Long of New Straitsville Ohio saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept him awake every night. He had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her and he writes that this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of its power to cure all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only Dr. King's Cough Remedy. Trial bottles free at Irving & Co drug store.

A very beautiful dress Adm. M. H. L. in Paris in August was on the run and in imminent danger. He had to drop a set folding in his studio and it would not stand. He had to stand up aloft in a most perilous posture. In the meantime he was in the grip of a terrible fit. He had to be carried to the hospital. It was with difficulty that he could be got off the bed without breaking the spinal column. He had to be carried to the hospital. And they squealed in a horrible manner as we told you.

The bundle kicked.

A comic story is told of an Englishman who is shotgutted in a ironbound trunk while he was sitting next to a stout old woman seated in the next seat across from him. What a minute and his lordship! I'll put this bundle up in the next car and you can sit here!

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm of disinterested art about stood.

At the end of half an hour Michel looked up from his work. "I see you still do not want me," he said. "But I have a foolish idea."

And once more the model was forced into strained tightness while the enthusiasm

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

Interesting Information for Those Who Want to Buy.

INTENDING PURCHASERS

Will Do Well to Consult This Column If They Wish to Save Money and Procure the Best Bargains.

Advertise your business by presenting to your patrons handsome calendars containing a line or two about the goods you have to sell. Result: Pleased patrons; prosperous merchants. The GAZETTE has samples of some fine calendars. Our prices are reasonable.

Having purchased the Job Barefoot cider press and removed the same to Arnold's planing mill, I will be ready, on August 28, to make cider for all who call. W. S. ARNOLD.

WANTED.—A good cook for small hotel. Good wages will be paid. Address S., Huntingdon, Pa.

Bedford Classical Academy

Offers an Academic Course, an English Course and a Course in Drawing and Painting. Students enter college on certificate. Open to boys and girls. Terms reasonable.

For particulars address C. V. SMITH, A. M., Principal.

WANTED.—Two girls, a cook and a nurse. Address Mrs. Charles G. Brown, Huntington, Pa. Aug 7/03

Saturday, Sept. 1, is the last day to pay borough and water taxes to save the 5 cent discount. Office in H. C. Heckerman's wholesale store.

FRANK BOWEN, Collector.

For Rent.

FOR RENT satisfied to a satisfactory tenant from Oct. 1 to June 1 the one large brick house adjoining Court House. Terms low to satisfactory party. Will also sell this property and all other real estate at reasonable figure to settle the estate. For description see estate of Wm. M. Hall, deceased. Aug 3/03 JNO H. JORDAN, Attorney.

Education By Mail.

The first Student in the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., was Thomas Coates, of Peckville, Pa., who enrolled Oct. 10, 1891. He was then a miner, but is now a General St. at Yatesville, Pa. The growth of the schools has been phenomenal. The number of students enrolled up to Aug. 1900, was over 210,000. Graduates in Mechanical, Electrical and Civil Engineering, Mechanical and Architectural Drawing, Book-keeping and Stenography, Sanitary Plumbing, Heating, Ventilation, &c., are filling important positions in every state in the Union. The leading industrial concerns of America are constantly seeking for men who have taken courses in these schools. We are satisfied with earning two dollars a day when such an opportunity is offered at a very SMALL COST to qualify yourself to earn from 50 to 100 per cent. more?

For information and circulars address E. R. GRIFFITH, Bedford, Pa.

Central Commercial College, Cumberland, Md., Winchester, Va., Ninth year school begins September 3rd. A leading school of business.

C. EW. PASSNO, President.

Established in 1872, Bedford, Pa.

JOHN G. HARTLEY & CO., BANKERS.

JNO. G. HARTLEY, JNO. M. REYNOLDS,

S. M. MITCHELL.

Individual liability. Capital and real estate unencumbered, $300,000.00.

Accounts of merchants, farmers and others solicited. Pay interests on time deposits and receive deposits payable on demand.

WM. HARTLEY, Jr., Cashier.

Ice!

All orders for ice left at R.G.T. Wolf's will be promptly filled by S. B. Debaugh.

Grocer's Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N.Y.

Dear Sirs—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my door. I have never given it a trial, but I have to say I was very pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

Respectfully yours, A. C. JACKSON, M. D.

Sale Register.

All persons having sale bills printed at this office get a free notice in the sale register. This is worth several times the price of the bills.

In Woodbury township on Monday, September 10, at 1 p.m. George W. Replegio, ex-enr., will sell the real estate of Jacob Detwiler, deceased, consisting of the mansion farm containing 106 acres, having erected thereon two frame dwelling houses, two summer houses, large bank barn with wagon shed and corn crib attached and other suitable buildings. This tract is all cleared but about 5 acres and is all the best quality of limestone land in a high state of cultivation. There are two cisterns, a good well, a fine apple orchard, etc., on the premises. A tract of timber land containing 17 acres will also be sold.

On Familiar Terms.

Every member of every household is on familiar terms with the calendar, it is consulted daily. A neat ad on a pretty calendar will keep the advertiser and his business before the people 365 days in the year. The calendars for 1901 are superb. It is interesting, call at GAZETTE office, and see complete line of samples. We are confident we can please you in designs, printing and price.

Entertained by Miss Eliza Smith.

Tuesday evening Miss Eliza Smith delightfully entertained a number of her friends at her home on West Pitt street. The evening was spent in playing cards, checkers, crokinole, etc. Miss Smith is an accomplished musician and rendered some fine selections on the piano. Refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Gephart, of Youngstown, O.; Miss Anna E. Moore, of Altoona; Miss Gurney, of Meyersdale; Misses Little and Bernice Over, of Cline, O.; Miss Hawe, of Baltimore, Md.; Miss Margaret Brightbill, of Bedford; Miss Hugh Tate and Charles Reeder, of Everett; John Brightbill and Morselle W. Corle, of Bedford.

Schellsburg:
AUGUST 22—We have been highly favored by the "latter rain," which seems to have broken the intense heat.

The other week "Gideon" bought some bananas at W. C. Keyser's and among them was a double one, the only one ever seen or heard of by your scribe.

On Sunday night during the electric storm lightning struck a locust tree 29 yards from the corner of the Reformed parsonage, 21 yards from Charles Danzner's new house and 15 yards from W. H. Beamer's house. It shocked the occupants of these houses quite a good deal.

Rev. George A. Whitmore, of Thurmont, Md., spent from Friday until Tuesday in our town as the guest of Mrs. C. M. Whitmore and preached a most practical sermon in the Reformed church Sunday evening. As there was no other service in town at that time he had a large audience.

Joseph May and family of Robinsonville, are spending a week with Mrs. May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher.

C. R. Thompson, the picture man from Martinsburg, passed Monday night at the Reformed parsonage.

Prof. J. A. Wright and family are busy calling upon old friends in our burg.

E. J. Colvin's sale yesterday was well attended and brought quite a lot of people to town.

Queen:

AUGUST 23—Harrison Jokes of Jefferson county is circulating among the friends of his boyhood days.

Mrs. Mary Stifter is on the sick list.

Mrs. Alice Hoeinstine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoeinstine, of Claysburg, died on August 9, of typhoid fever, aged 21 years, 7 months and 15 days.

Samuel Blitcher died on August 9, aged 77 years, 8 months and 3 days. He suffered from a paralytic stroke for more than two years. He was a consistent member of the Lutheran church. Rev. E. E. Parson, of St. Clairsville, officiated at the funeral, which took place in the Greenfield Reformed church. He was the father of thirteen children. His wife and the following children survive him: George, of East Freedom; Mrs. David Burkett, Mrs. Thomas Bondabush, Mrs. G. F. Croyle, Alex., Jackson, William, of Queen, and David, of Altoona. He was a soldier in the late war.

Catharine Mock, widow of Paul Mock, died on August 17, aged 75 years, 11 months and 18 days. Interment was made in the Claysburg cemetery on Sunday. Rev. S. U. Waughman officiated.

Gilbert Feather, son of George Feather, died yesterday, of typhoid fever. He was about twenty-two years old.

Pot:

AUGUST 21—Isaac Gordon's family picked 2,156 quarts of bucklesberries in twenty-four days. The number picking would average four a day. They sold the berries to hucksters at their door for four cents a quart.

Wolfsburg:

AUGUST 22—Senator John S. Walker of Bedford, spent a few hours here with a friend on Tuesday evening.

"Darkest Africa" was well represented here one day last week.

We compliment Dr. L. M. Colfert on the achievement he has made toward beautifying his property here. He recently purchased the saw-mill property from M. Easell; consideration private.

A wee little specimen of humanity, whose winsome smiles make a good man think of the angels, came the other evening to the pleasant home of Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Hersherberger.

Rev. John S. Souzer, of Flemington, is paying a visit here to the "old folks at home."

He will return home on Thursday and his pretty daughter, Miss Clara, who has been here on a protracted visit, will accompany him.

The chicken and waffle supper given here Saturday night, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church, was a financial success. Mrs. J. J. Woit, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Sam Trout and Mrs. E. H. Todd deserve great credit for keeping their church clear of debt. Nevertheless, I am uncompromisingly opposed to all such schemes as waffle suppers, Martha Washington teas, "Pop corn" festivals, etc., for the benefit of the church, which Christ Himself has died to save. Standing on the threshold of the 20th century, with 100 centuries of gospel preaching and gospel teaching behind us, the church of to-day should hide its head in shame when it has to resort to such schemes to pay its debts.

Cotman Township:

AUGUST 20—Schools open September 17.

David Whetstone and family are visiting at the home of Francis Diehl.

George Kinton and mother spent Sunday with George Lutz.

Mrs. Taylor Diehl is confined to her room on account of pleurisy.

Miss Margaret England is visiting friends in St. Clairsville.

Mrs. John Snively and daughter, of Alscosa, are visiting at the home of Josiah Koontz.

Rev. Thomas Gibson will preach in the Friend's Cove church next Sunday morning.

FARMER JACK:

AUGUST 22—Robert Wilson and family of Flinstown, Md., were visiting Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. J. Frank Beagle, the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Rosanna Shaffer has returned home again after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Calvin Bortz, of near Centerville.

Shannon Mortimore, our wide awake blacksmith, has not been working the last few days on account of a severe sore throat.

FARMER JACK:

AUGUST 22—The Messrs. Crissman, of Pittsburg, are guests of their aunt, Mrs. Lillie Blackley.

Mrs. Amanda Shroyer is very ill.

Dr. Plank is the attending physician.

Mrs. Maria Amick is on the sick list.

Prof. H. E. Brumbaugh wears a broad smile because of the arrival of a young son.

Mrs. C. W. Fox, of Rouring Spring, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Brumbaugh.

Miss Margaret Barley spent last week as the guest of Misses Araminta and Etta Crissman, of Cessna.

Miss Edith Barley spent last week with friends at Yont's station.

Mrs. T. K. Cromer and son Russell have gone to Dover, Va., to visit the former's parents.

Missionary in Lutheran church Sunday evening, 26th. All are invited.

TOSY:

Dance at the Corle House.

A dance was given at the Corle House Friday night by Mrs. O. Smith.

A large number of persons were present and all had a delightful evening.

Prof. Koontz and his two colleagues, who had been engaged to play on this occasion, were not satisfied with the music obtained from the instruments at their command, so they "rounded up" several members of the Bedford orchestra—and then, in the language of the Hon. Matthew Stanley, "things were different." The dancers greatly appreciated the musicians' commendable efforts to please.

Union Veteran Legion Encampment.

On account of the national encampment, Union Veteran Legion, at Ft. Wayne, Ind., on September 12, the Pennsylvania Railroad company will sell excursion tickets at the rate of one fare for the round trip from all points on its line east of the Pittsburgh and Erie to Ft. Wayne. Tickets to be sold and good going September 9, 10 and 11, returning to September 18, inclusive.

That Thrilling Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for SICK and Nervous Headaches.

They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by Dr. Irving & Co., druggists.

J. W. LINGLE, Pastor.

INDIANA INKLINGS

Communication From The Hoosier State.

BARNES BURNED.

This Year's Crop—Democrats Are Plentiful—A Prediction—McKinley—"Prosperity"—Gas and Oil.

LANDLESS, Ind., August 16.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—I thought perhaps a few lines from this part of the Kingdom of McKinley might be interesting to the many readers of your paper. Therefore I will pen you such news as may occur to my mind. We have had some very hard thunder storms here for the last few days. Yesterday the lightning burned three barns in this neighborhood. They were full of hay. About two weeks ago one was burned by lightning in this vicinity.

Wheat here was a complete failure. Oats are a good crop. Corn is producing a very heavy crop. Fruit is not plentiful. Potatoes are a good crop. Hay was good.

Democrats are plentiful and hunting is coming over from the other side. You will hear something drop next November. This state is good for twenty thousand majority for Bryan. (Mark what I say.) Factories are closing throughout the gas belt, and that is going to help Bryan. The farmers have not been helped at all by the Mac boom. They get no more for their grain than they did under Cleveland's administration and about the same for hogs. And they pay twice as much for wire and nails and at least 30 per cent. more for store goods. If any good Republican can figure out where he is benefited I will vote for McKinley. Here is a chance for a vote.

The gas is going out here slowly but surely and oil is coming in its place. It is wonderful to see what money has been spent here for gas and oil. I might say that every farm here is leased by some company. The Standard and most of the money invested, but there are a great many other companies that are operating here. Some farmers get one dollar a day for their land on lease until a well is put down and then if it is an oiler they get from one-sixth to one-eighth of the oil; if gas, then $100 per year for each well. They aim to put down a well for every ten acres of land. Some farms are bringing in fortunes to their owners, others not so much. There are not many strong wells, only a few that have shown "big." But experts think that after the gas is all gone the oil will be more plentiful, as the gas holds back the oil. Well, that were all a few years ago.

WILSON:

August 22—The 37th annual Grangers' picnic exhibition will be held at Williams' Grove the week beginning August 27. The exhibition of machinery will surpass that of any former year and undoubtedly will be the greatest ever held in the eastern states. During the week the platform will be occupied by prominent Grangers, agriculturists, educators and politicians. Tuesday—D. N. C. Schaeffer, superintendent public instruction, Hon. Leonard Stone and J. T. Aliman, of the Pennsylvania state grange. Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be picnickers' day, when the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be given full swing upon the platform. Thursday the Pure Butter Protective association will be represented by a host of anti-leomargarine people. Luther S. Kauffman, Esq., attorney for the association, will make the principal address. Friday—W. B. Packard, lecturer of Pennsylvania state grange, Wednesday will be pic